

The meeting was held in the Dunes City hall. Linda Lauck, Christine May, and Susie Navetta were present.

Repairing and painting the hall and foyer was the first topic of discussion. The present artist will take down her work before 2:00 P.M. of June 29th. Wall repair and masking by Barbina Madden will start at 3:00 P.M. The hall will be painted by Linda Lauck, Bill Benson, Gene Cockeram, etc. Susie Navetta and Natalie Madden will attend to weeds in the garden in preparation of the festival. Terry Madden will hang the rods and hangers for the new gallery system on Saturday, July 1st. About 12 local artists will hang on July 6th.

Planning for the "Festival of the Lakes" is an on going project; Linda Lauck reported she attended the Road Commission to ask for and got their approval of a sign for the festival at HWY 101 and the Myrtlewood Factory. Linda reported Bob Petersdorf would man a table on permits at the festival. At the Park Commission meeting she signed up a couple of painters and Cal Lewis to sell Dunes City Park and Recreation T-shirts. Linda said David Lauck made a Suggestion Box for comments from residents. Linda has lined up Grocery Outlet for the hot dogs and they asked Florence Hearth and Patio to cook them. She also continues to pick up information at different agencies. After researching for the lowest price Linda will complete the mailing of the fliers on schedule.

Christine May designed a beautiful banner for HWY 101 and it is out for an estimate. She also created a flier for the up-coming event and took them to the printers. Christine is committed to the graphic work and all lettering to keep it uniform. This will involve nametags, signs, placards, press releases, newsletter, etc. Christine will work with Fred Hilden (Dunes City webmaster) on the newsletter and the web site. She will also contact FEMA for a family safety booklet.

Susie Navetta sent letters to business and state and county agencies to ask for their participation in the festival. Ralph and Audrey Farnsworth, Richard Koehler, and Barbara Madden helped Susie fold the fliers. The photo contest for the festival is progressing with Susie asking Peter Howison to take the grand prizewinner on a kayak ride down the canoe trail on the Siltcoos River. This week she will be calling speakers and following up on the informational booth people. Susie reported, on the newsletter, she has already received $725 in sponsor funds to defray the printing and mailing costs.

The group then went about the task of sizing up the hall, placement of chairs and tables, and where certain functions would take place and how they could make things look more festive. They rough drafted in where the outside activities would take place.
